Anthony Liddle Harrison

Was killed in a mining accident at Eppleton Colliery on 13th Dec 1895. He died by suffocation from gases while trying to rescue two work mates John Thomas Brown and Robert Lawns. The courage of the rescuers was commended in the Inspector's Report as below:

I should like here to say a word or two in appreciation of the courage and gallantry shown by the men who were amongst the rescuers. The three hewers, as well as the manager, under-manager, overman, and back-overman, all showed that they possessed the qualities which in the past made pitmen famous for heroism in the time of danger ; such conduct as theirs should not go without commendation, and I am pleased to have the opportunity in this report, to show my appreciation of it, and I regret that one of them should have lost his life in the plucky attempt made to rescue Brown and Lawns.

Other Children of the Family

Thomas avoided the mines by becoming an apprentice Joiner and Cabinet Maker to his maternal grandfather William Hill a former Mariner from Shields.

1901 at 3, Chapel Street, Hetton le Hole:

Earnest	Harrison	Son	3yrs
Jane	Harrison	Daughter	1yr
Sarah	Hill	Sister-in-Law	15yrs

Jane's family lived at 32, Caroline Street at this time. In the 1891 census they lived at the same address. In 1881 they lived at 174 Richard Street.

1881 at 99, Lyon Street, Hetton le Hole:

Jane Ann	Harrison	Daughter	20yrs	Unmarried
